
Pre-Forum Workshops

A. Strategies for Improving Nursing Workplaces: International and Canadian Initiatives

Join Dr. Judith Shamian for an interactive discussion of International and Canadian initiatives to improve the quality of nursing workplaces. The workshop will include a review of relevant international research on the links between the quality of nursing workplaces and patient outcomes. Whether you're an administrator, manager, practitioner, researcher, student, or teacher this workshop is for you!

Facilitator

Judith Shamian, RN, PhD, Executive Director,
Office of Nursing Policy, Health Canada

B. Interpretive Description in Action: Issues and Strategies

Interpretive Description is a form of qualitative description uniquely suited to the study of applied clinical disciplines, such as nursing, in which some form of interpretation and application are expected inquiry outcomes. This workshop is of interest to new and experienced researchers exploring methodological options or those already grappling with their qualitative research projects.

Facilitator

Sally Thorne, RN, PhD, Professor & Director,
University of British Columbia School of Nursing
